the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are under 15 years of age has increased by 1.2 billion, from 1.1 billion in 1980 to 2.3 billion in 1999 (United Nations 2000). The number of children in the world is projected to increase to 3.2 billion by 2020 (United Nations 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to ensure that the needs of children are met in the context of the rapidly changing world of the twenty-first century. The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (1989) is the only international treaty that has been ratified by all 191 member states of the United Nations. The Convention sets out the rights of children and the responsibilities of governments to ensure that these rights are met.

The Convention is based on the principle that children are not just the property of their parents, but individuals with their own rights and responsibilities. The Convention sets out the rights of children to life, health, education, and participation in decisions that affect them. It also sets out the responsibilities of governments to ensure that these rights are met.

The Convention is a landmark document in the history of children's rights. It has led to the development of national laws and policies that protect the rights of children. It has also led to the development of international standards for the treatment of children.

The Convention is a living document. It is constantly being updated and revised to reflect the changing needs of children in the world. The Convention is a testament to the power of international cooperation to protect the rights of children.

The Convention is a source of inspiration for all who care about children. It is a reminder that children are not just the future, but the present. They are individuals with their own rights and responsibilities, and we have a duty to ensure that these rights are met.

The Convention is a call to action. It is a call for all governments to work together to ensure that the rights of children are met. It is a call for all of us to work together to create a world where every child has the opportunity to reach their full potential.

The Convention is a source of hope. It is a hope that every child in the world will have the rights and opportunities that they need to thrive. It is a hope that every child will be treated with the respect and dignity that they deserve.

MOVIN' ON

Starting the year off, the seniors elected their officers. They were: Gordon Gregory, President; Kent Reeser, Vice-President; Jody Anderson, Secretary; Pam Haas, Treasurer; and Linda Sprague, Student Council Rep. Our loyal sponsors were Mrs. Monts and Mr. Gregory. During the year they helped us excel in pecan and seed sales. The concession and homecoming stands took much time and effort. After four years of hard work, the seniors enjoyed their trip to Florida.

JUNIORS TAKE LEAD!

It wasn't long into the year before the Juniors jumped right in there with their magazine sales. They did very well, making over $800. And before you could say "Gorsh" it was curtain time. The Jr. play was of a different air this year. It was a "Hillbilly Weddin'". A week hadn't passed and once again those ambitious Juniors were at it again. This time they were out there hustling those candy bars and donuts at the ballgames. To finally put the icing on the cake, the Juniors ended the year by putting on the Junior and Senior Prom.

Fighting for class rings was a battle, but they were victorious. Reasons for receiving rings this year were lower prices, and an opportunity to wear them longer while in school.

Coach Lenz said that the overall football program was a success even with our 3-6 record. The reason he feels this way is because every senior on the team received mention on the all-conference team. Gordon Gregory was selected to: all area team, and second team all state. There were also several school records. According to Coach (hubba) Lenz, the two major factors for the losing was that we were weak at our offensive right guard and tackle position. The other factor was that there wasn't enough competition for any position. He also felt that the lack of school spirit hurt the team.

GO GO GO Kimble sets high goals for De Land cage squad SEASON

DE LAND — If there's one thing John Kimble learned in his year as assistant basketball coach at Lexington High School under Don Eiker, it's that you have to set high goals in order to have any chance at a successful season.

It worked for the Minutemen last season when they advanced to the quarter-finals of the state basketball tournament.

Now the 24-year-old Kimble has begun applying that philosophy in his first year as a head coach at De Land-Weldon and the results so far have been outstanding.

The Eagles have won their first seven games, including the championship in their own four-team round robin tournament, and the prospects look bright for the rest of the season.

"You have to know what you're shooting for," said Kimble, a Western Illinois University graduate. "It gets depressing for kids to practice on cold winter nights."

"They begin to say, 'What the heck am I here for?' Maybe having these goals reminds them."

De Land-Weldon has already accomplished the first of its team goals with the title in their tourney, and next on the agenda is the championship of the Sangamon Valley Conference, in which they finished tied for fourth last year.

The Eagles have already taken a step in that direction with a 70-56 triumph over Argenta in their first league game, but coming up Friday night will be a tough contest at Fisher.

Kimble asks a lot of his players, and they have been responding.

"They lift weights every day except game days," Kimble said. "And they shoot 50 free throws every day. It's expected that they get them done."

Kimble's weight program includes exercises only for the legs, and in addition, he makes the team go through ballhandling, layup, rebounding, jumping and shooting drills before team practice really gets under way.

The Eagles also have the outstanding individuals to make the high goals within reach, including five seniors who played on an eighth-grade team which advanced to the state tournament.

"That's put a lot of pressure on them," said Kimble. "Just that they went to the state in grade school doesn't mean a darn thing, but this is their last chance to fulfill the expectancies of the people around here."

"The pressure definitely showed in our first ball game. They were afraid to make mistakes, but they've overcome it."

Individually the team has been led by muscular 6 foot 7 inch center Jeff Pearl, who is scoring at a 19.1-point per game clip and hauling down 13.7 rebounds.

Forward Gordon Gregory, an outstanding football prospect at 6-4, 195 pounds, averages 14.2 points and 8.7 rebounds. Both are seniors.

"Gregory has been scoring well," said Kimble. "But he prides himself as a rebounder. I think he would rather get 30 bounds in a game than 30 points."

"Pearl moves well for a big man, and he has a lot of pride. I've told him that in our toughest games he should aim for 20 points and 20 rebounds, but we especially need those rebounds."

"We need 30-40 rebounds a game from Gregory and Pearl. Others can pick up the scoring, but we don't have the size on the rest of the team to make up for those rebounds."

Seniors Mark Sosamon (10.0 scoring average) and Bryan Baker (9.6) are the others who start every game for the Eagles, while sophomore Roger Twist (7.0), junior Scott Sprague and senior Kelly Hiter alternate at the other position.

"All seven have started at one time or another," said Kimble. "I feel like I have seven starters."

"Baker, Sosamon and Twist have the potential to score well, but so far they've been our best defensive players. They're starting to get defensive pride."

"Hiter and Sprague have the knack of settling our ball club down. Sprague's forte is ball handling, and he can penetrate. Hiter has been valuable because he can play so many spots. He can play guard or forward."

Russ Pearl, Dan Manning and Ron Barton, the other members of the varsity, make their contributions by performing their best in practice according to Kimble.

WINTER DANCE

It was January 18, a Saturday night, with a whole lot shaking. Most of the action was in the D-W gym to the music of Free Wheelin'. This was the school's first winter dance and sponsored by the Student Council. The Booster Club also threw in a hand by furnishing food. The occasion was something for the student body to enjoy.

GAIL

Gail deBeer was our AFS student for the year 74-75 at DeLand-Weldon. During her stay in America she lived with her host family, the Kallembachs. She took an active part in D-W by taking part in Senior Class projects, FHA, GAA, Student-Council and AFS. The AFS surprised her with a birthday party and also held a Christmas party in her honor. She enjoyed her stay in America and we enjoyed her stay at D-W. She really brightened up some of the boring days.

Even though the Juniors had less than five weeks to prepare the play, we really pulled it off. Between keeping the boys there long enough after ball practice to even have rehearsal, and getting everyone to learn their lines, many of us did have our doubts as to whether or not "the show would go on". And conjuring up new ideas to get out of classes to work on the set was always a real challenge. But these are common problems that happen every year. We were faced with a new dilemma, though, having dress rehearsal snowed out. Mr. Heller came up with the brilliant idea of letting us practice during school. Finally on November 15 at 7:30 the curtain went up. And if any of us had any regrets, they just had to wait until the curtain went down.

"STAIRWAY

The Junior-Senior Prom this year was held at the Holiday Inn in Champaign on May 17. The theme was "Stairway To Heaven." A buffet dinner was served at 6:30 p.m. After the dinner, everyone enjoyed dancing to the music of the Jawbreakers. After the prom, everyone went to Foster's Bowling Alley for an evening of bowling.

Dear Students

Although the four short years you spend in high school are but a fraction of your life, some of the most memorable events occur during this time.

Freshmen, you have just completed the most trying of your four years. You still have ample time to reach whatever goals you might have for yourself in high school.

Sophomores, you have now reached the half way mark and can look forward to that busy junior year and such things as the class play and the prom.

Juniors, you have but one last year at Deland-Weldon and by now are making plans for the future. Your final year holds many exciting moments with the last being graduation.

Graduating Seniors of 1975, my congratulations. You have now successfully completed your high school education and are headed in many different directions. I hope your years at Deland-Weldon High School will always hold pleasant memories. As you travel your many different roads, I hope your pitfalls are small and your accomplishments are great so you might reflect favorably on your school, your community, your family, and yourself.

Best Wishes

SENIORS FLORIDA BOUND

The Seniors once again journeyed to Florida for a final stay with their classmates before they all part and go their separate ways.

Much as it seems by these pictures, not all of the week was spent on the bus or in the motel. The Seniors went to Disney World, Daytona Beach, and Cape Kennedy and many other places.
